Organizations often assume that industry-leading off-the-shelf enterprise software, like OpenText Content Server, will just seamlessly integrate into their existing business processes without much optimization or tuning. However, just like musical instruments, radios, or cars, tuning and servicing is essential to optimize performance, your Content Server environment is no exception.

Tailored Content Server Solutions for Your Business

At Fastman, we specialize in optimizing and expanding Content Server. Drawing on over 15 years of OpenText expertise, we'll guide you to unlock the full potential of your investment. Understanding both the capabilities and your objectives is crucial. Continuously innovating, we enhance your Content Server experience to help you surpass your business goals.

Together, we simplify processes, design tailored applications, and enhance user and administrator experiences. Our aim is to deliver lasting improvements and achieve your key business objectives, leveraging the most reliable ECM platforms available. With us, your risk decreases, and your ROI increases.

Your Partner In Data Integrity

At Fastman, we specialize in solving high-value Content Server business problems and technical challenges. When you partner with Fastman, you gain access to a team of business and technology experts, each bringing their unique OpenText experience to the table. With this extensive knowledge and over 15 years of accumulated intellectual property, we deliver robust solutions faster and with less risk. Don't let your Content Server become just another departmental repository. Whether you need to boost user adoption, streamline administrative tasks, or develop integrated content-centric applications, you need Content Server tailored to your business. Contact us today to learn more.

Our consultants partner with you to comprehensively understand your situation, work collaboratively on your problems, and drive higher value from your Content Suite and Extended ECM platforms.
